

About Nutrition Response Testing®

Nutrition Response Testing is a safe, natural and non-invasive system of analyzing the body to determine the underlying causes of ill health. When these causes are found and corrected through natural, nutritional means, the body can repair itself and maintain more optimum health.

Nutrition Response Testing was developed by Freddie Ulan, DC in the 1990s. It is very precise and scientific and is being used by thousands of healthcare practitioners across the US.

However, if we were to analyze you using Nutrition Response Testing before it was explained to you, you might find it strange, or simply not believable – because it is probably very different from anything you have used or experienced.

If you want restored health and longevity it is important that you understand what Nutrition Response Testing is and what our recommendations are based on. Otherwise, you are less likely to comply with your program and you won't experience the amazing benefits that are routinely attainable.

What is the Nutrition Response Testing Process?

In Nutrition Response Testing we do not diagnose or treat disease. There are two parts to our process:

1. The analysis (the assessment of your body's current health status)
2. The personalized health improvement program (using designed clinical nutrition).

The Analysis:

The analysis is done through testing the body's nervous system.

Nutrition Response Testing analyzes different areas on the surface of the body that relate to the state of health and to the flow of energy in every organ and function of the body.

This information is derived from the part of the nervous system whose job it is to regulate the functions of the organs.

Interestingly, since the human anatomy has not changed significantly in thousands of years, the utilization of these organs/areas have become extremely useful in Nutrition Response Testing because they are so accurate!

Each area that gives a response represents a specific organ, tissue, or function, and indicates the effect that energy, or the lack of energy, is having on the body. By testing these organs / areas, we have a system of monitoring your body at each visit that has proven to be extremely accurate clinically, and that helps us identify exactly what the body needs and how well we are meeting that need.

Decades of clinical experience tell us that when we have found the correct nutritional supplements we can devise a clinically designed program for your body.

This will be a highly personalized nutritional supplement schedule. We have identified the most important first step in correcting the underlying deficiency or imbalance that caused the organ/area to be active in the first place. By following the program as precisely as possible, you are well on your way to restoring normal function and improving your health. It's that simple!
